Chloe's Two Cents

No one likes to say the word 'wrinkles' but here's the deal: Well hydrated skin is less prone to developing wrinkles. Water is also a natural purifier that rids the body of toxins. The best way to calculate the amount of water your body needs each day is to take your body weight in pounds and divide by 2. That is the number of ounces of water you need each day to stay hydrated.

Alcohol can dehydrate your skin so remember one glass of water to every cocktail or eggnog you sip at that holiday party!
