Say Good bye to your Razor!

Now is the time to start a series of laser hair removal for your legs, underarms, bikini, and other body parts! Men, we're talking to you too! Hairy backs and chests are not considered to be the latest fad! A typical area of hair removal can take around 6 treatments done every 4-6 weeks. If you start now, you will be "beach ready" by June or July, just in time for that fabulous vacation you've got planned. Lets face it, none of us like taking an extra 10-15 minutes to shave our legs and underarms in the morning. So why not make it easier on yourself? Laser hair removal is a very successful way to reduce the hair growth cycle and eventually never need to shave again! Just to entice you a little more, we're even giving you 15% your treatments if you buy them before the end of February. Call us for more information or a price quote per area.

Dry Dehydrated Skin?

Don't worry, you're not alone. Almost everyone is feeling dry and dehydrated from the extreme weather we've been having lately. It's also hard to want to drink enough water during the day when we're surrounded by it outside! We've got a great fix for your dehydrated skin. It's called B5Hydrating Serum from Skin Ceuticals. It literally is like a "drink of water" for your skin. This isn't going to clog pores or cause blackheads because it penetrates deep into the skin where the hydration is needed. It's also a good price as well, with 15% off through Feb.

Surgery Can be a Good Option

Dr. Chris Chung is currently doing procedures downstairs at Pacific Surgical Center and we are seeing lots of happy patients. If there's a procedure you've been thinking about, schedule a complimentary consultation with Dr. Chung and he can answer all of your questions. He makes his patients feel comfortable and takes the time to help you decide which, if any, procedures are right for you. He also wants to make it affordable for people to achieve their aesthetic goals, and therefore accepts Care Credit for all of his services. Dr. Chung is not only an exceptional surgeon, but also wonderful addition to our community.
